TRI-CITIES WATER CO. MAKES NO ADVANCE IN SERVICE RATES

All Consumers Must Buy Water According To Meter Measurement

PLANS TO CONSERVE WATER

One of the few commodities that Charleroi people can buy for the same price which prevailed before the war, is water. While all other public service corporations have advanced their rates, as well as the butcher, the baker and the candle-stick maker, the Tri-Cities Water company is making every effort to continue its services until after the war without an increase in rates.

In order to do this, however, the flat rate is to be eliminated and all consumers will be served by meter measurement. This will work but little if any hardship in Charleroi, as it will mean that consumers will have to pay for just what water they use, as most of them are doing now. The elimination of the flat rate is aimed to cut down water wastage. Of all the towns served by the Tri-Cities Water company Monessen will be affected the most, where about a thousand consumers are on the flat rate service.

Postal cards recently issued by the Tri-Cities Water company give notice of the proposed change. Meter rates will not be raised, but when the meter installation is completed all consumers will be served on the meter basis.

This action on the part of the local water company is quite different from that of the corporation serving Jeannette and other towns in that vicinity, where five boroughs have already spent $18,000 in court costs, lawyers' fees and for experts fees in combatting an increase in rates on the part of the water company, which, while finally gained by the people, the corporation was permitted to raise hydrant rates in the various boroughs.

By themethod adopted by the Tri-Cities Water company the people are saved any fees that might arise from court proceedings, while all consumers will be placed on the same basis, and charged at the same rate for service. Meter installation will proceed as rapidly as possible.

AUTO WRECKED ON SLIPPERY STREET

Slippery conditions at Third street and Lincoln avenue Wednesday afternoon was the cause of considerable damage to the Nash-6 auto of Isaac Wakefield. Mr. Wakefield had left home at 6:30 and was coming down Third off Lincoln, when his car started to skid, owing to the very slippery condition of the street. Recent hauling of dirt over that part of the street some of which had fallen to the pavements from trucks and which had been made quite slippery by the rainfall a short time before, made conditions bad for running machines.

When Mr. Wakefield started down Third he noticed his car skidding and at once released his brake; at the same time he put his car in second, when the engine went "dead" and he was left helpless. The car was going at considerable speed, when it crashed into the curb, completely wrecking the left hind wheel, and bending the front axle so badly that the wheel attached thereto laid flat on the street.

While his car was lying in this wrecked condition another machine coming down Third ran into it and broke down the running board and bent the front fender on the right side of the machine. The steering gear was also broken. Mr. Wakefield does not know how much the damage will be until a full examination has been made.

After the accident the street was closed to traffic for the night and this morning the street department gave it a thorough sweeping.

According to announcement from the Internal Revenue Office, the "habitual use of morphine, cocaine, heroin and preparations containing other narcotic drugs has increased rapidly in the United States within the past two years." No doubt this has been largely due to the increase in "dry" territory, medical men having noted before that increased use of narcotic drugs is in direct ratio to the limiting of opportunity to secure alcholic beverages.

Memorial Services Will Be Held Sunday Next

Memorial services will be held Sunday afternoon next in the First Presbyterian church at 2.30 o'clock, in memory of Private Mansell Williams, recently killed on the western front. The call for the services reads as follows:

One more of our heroes has answered the last call and given up everything for his country, flag and humanity. We hereby invite you to attend the memorial services to be held in the First Prsbyterian church, Fifth street, Charleroi, October 6, 1918, at 2:30 p. m.

Captain J. K. Hein, chairman of the memorial committee, extends a special invitation to the following: Veterans of 1861-65. Spanish-American war veterans, the Regular Army, Boy Scouts and Drum Corps, Veteran Guards of Charelroi, Home Defense Police, the Mothers of Democracy.

It is also the wish of the committee that soldiers of 1917-18 act as escort to the soldiers of 1861-5.

Burgess, council and police will attend in a body.

Music will be furnished by Prof. Daniels. Services to be conducted by Rev. Keller.

The committee wishes as many as possible to attend these services which are being held in memory of Private Mansell Williams, born Oct. 24, 1887, enlisted Oct. 6, 1917, killed in action on the western front July 20, 1918.

Officials Are Selected For Big Football Game

Officials for the foot ball game between the Monessen High and Charleroi High teams have been mutually agreed upon by the officers of both schools and if experts in this great out-door sport can contribute to the success of the contest, the meeting of these two elevens on the 12th of October should prove in every way satisfactory to both teams. The officials mutually agreed upon by the two schools are:

Referee—W. F. Knox of Yale; umpire, Fred J. Crolius of Dartmouth, head linesman, O. R. Herwick of Connellsville. Mr. Herwick was referee of the game at Connellsville last week and proved to be a very competent official.

The coming game between Monessen and Charleroi is one of the most important of the season, and is sure to attract a large crowd, not only from Charleroi, but from Monessen as well. Both teams are going good at the present time and as both have a number of last year's players in the line-up it should prove a contest worthy of both schools.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM 5TH STREET SCHOOL

The teachers and pupils of the Fifth Street School are preparing a patriotic program for the purpose of promoting interest in the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign, which will be held in the school lawn beginning at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The general public is cordially invited to be present. The following program will begiven:

Selection—High School Orchestra.
Song—America.
"A Long, Long Trail," "Over There," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," School.
"Our Service Flag," by the Girls.
Solo—"When the Boys Come Home"—Miss Clutter.
"What are You Going to do to Help the Boys?"—School.
"Our Slogan,"—by the Boys.
"We'll Send Our Dollars"—School.
Address—Rev. John R. Burson.
Star Spangeld Banner.
Selection—Orchestra.

NO FURTHER COLLECTION OF CLOTHING UNTIL EPIDEMIC CEASES

Red Cross Asks That No No New Efforts Be Made Along This Line

MAY SHIP CLOTHING ON HAND

Chairman H. J. Booth, of the Charleroi Chapter of the American Red Cross, received a telegram from Charles Scott, Jr., of Philsdelphia, General Chairman of the Red Cross of the Pennsylvania and Delaware Division a few days ago with reference to the collection of clothing during the prevalence of the Spanish influenza.

Mr. Scott says in his telegram that On account of Spanish influenza Red Cross medical authorities advise against public gatherings or house to house canvasses in campaigns for Belgian clothing and linen showers. This need not interfere with receiving supplies already solicited, nor the shipment of those already collected. Campaigns not started may be postponed."

Acting on this suggestion Mr. Booth, in connection with other officials of the Charleroi Red Cross have deemed it advisable to call off the local campaign for the solicitation of clothing for the Belgian people until such time as the epidemic of Spanish influenza is under control. As the telegram says, clothing already solicited or delivered, may be taken care of and forwarded as usual.

Reports from many sections of the country tell of the grave toll of influenza, which is particularly severe in the training camps ,where thousands of men are suffering from the malady. At some points in the east the civilian population is also suffering from the trouble, and physicians from all parts of the country have been summoned to Boston to combat the trouble, which seems to be particularly severe in the eastern portion of Massachusetts.

Bearing in mind the admonition contained in the telegram the Red Cross of Charleroi asks a suspension of gathering clothing for Belgian people until a later date.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR PVT. FULTON

Word was received the other day of the death in action of Private Howard Fulton of Co. A, 110th U. S. Infantry, August 26th. Howard Fulton was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fulton of Gregg street, Monongahela. He enlisted when but 17 years old and was with the Company on the Mexican border in 1916. His mother visited him before his departure for France, and he told her that he was not afraid to die for his country, but regretted only to leave her.

Unofficial word came some time ago of Fulton's death and the father telegraphed to the Red Cross, receiving word that at last reports Howard was well and on duty with his Company. Later the official word came. Memorial services will be held Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the United Presbyterian church, corner 10th and Chess streets, Monongahela.

A REQUEST TO HUSSEY-BINNS EMPLOYES

Kerfoot W. Daly, chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee, requests that all employees of the Hussey Binns Steel Company make their subscriptions to Fourth Liberty Loan bonds through the mill office.

The steel company has agreed to match every subscription made by its employees, but in order to secure this pledge on the part of the corporation it will be necessary for the bonds to be signed for through the mill office. By doing this each employee will be making their money do double duty—buying their own bond, and the company buying one to duplicate it.

WHEN YOU HAVE A RIGHT TO COMPLAIN

In nearly every newspaper in the country the housewife will find a Fair Price List. This list shows what foods are most plentiful in the local markets each day and also gives fair prices for them.

These prices are determined by local committees representing wholesale dealers, retailers and consumers. Thy aim to give the dealer a fair profit and at the same time to guard the housewife from being exploited.

But these Fair Price Lists are a club without a handle unless the housewife uses them as she should.

To do this, she should clip the Fair Price List as printed in her paper each day and take it to market with her. Then, if she is charged prices in excess of those quoated on the list she should immediately bring this fact to the attention of her dealer. If he refuses to sell at the prices quoted, the housewife should at once report him to her City Food Administrator if there is one, or to her county Food Administrator. He will take such action as seems to fit the case.

So much the Fair Price List can do, if rightly handled by the housewife. But there is another side to it. With the Fair Price List there is no excuse for the housewfe to wait until the end of the month and her bills begin to come in, and then complain because her grocery account is higher than she thinks it ought to be.

The only time she has a right to object is the day her dealer asks her a higher price for a certain food commodity than the price at which it is listed in the Fair Price List quoted for that day.

She has no right to complain just because h er gocery bill is higher than in pre-war time. Food is bound to cost more. Labor is scarce, transportation is difficult. The higher cost of food is part of the war burden that must be cheerfully borne by every housewife.

Let the American housewife who complains over prices in America compare them with those in other countries.

The only time we have a right to complain in America is when we are charged prices in excess of those quoted in the F air Price List.

NO RELAXATION

While Bulgaria has "thrown up the sponge," and is out of the war, the American people should not relax for one moment in any of the activities of a warlike character in which we are now engaged. Bulgaria's yell for peace may be sincere and we believe it is, yet until that nation is "nogsed" to the terms which the allies shall propose, it is well to be on the lookout for any sinister motives which might underly the Bulgarian offer.

There is no question as to the defeat of the Bulgars. They realize that the Teutonic empire is in a bad way, and that the time to save themselves is right now, which they undoubtedly want to do, and which they will do unless Germany has some unseen influence or hold upon the ruling class by means of which that kingdom can still be held in the fight. With Bulgaria out of it, Turkey's finish is in sight. The armies which have defeated Bulgaria can be turned against the western front of the Turks, and their yells for peace will be just as loud as the subjects of King Ferdinand. Both of these nations t hought they were picking a winner, only to realize that they are both bad guessers, and that their future will have to abide by the folly of their own acts. From now on Bulgaria will be of no advantage to Germany and Austria, but by means of the treaty which is to be made, can be utilized by the allies, in that it will be possble to pass allied armies over Bulgarian territory and thus be able to strike Austria from a new quarter.

It looks like the breaking of the "Mitteleuropa" dream of the Kaiser, whose legions are being hammered and defeated on the western front. But the outcome must be peace through victory. Germany must be completely defeated.

THROUGH VETERAN EYES

Sam Hook is a pop-eyed, spindle shanked, rheumatic veteran of the Civil War and his present habitat is a soldier's home. He has a limp, a cane and a pension, in addition to the daily reminscences of his comrades, to remind him of his service to his service to his country. And nether memory nor his patriotism is impared.

Puffing a Wheeling stogie with quick snap like whiffs and a gleam in his watery g rey eyes, he watched a company of recruits march along with springy step on the way to the depot. It had come to be an ordinary event, this marching of the khaki-clad youngsters, and there wasn't any particular display of enthusiasm.

Wherefore the spasmodic puffs upon Sam Hook's Wheeling stogie.

"Huh," Sam Hook grunted in huge disgust. "There they go on their way to a baptism of hell-fire and hardship; of sacrifice and suffering; of danger and death. Some'll come back heroes; som'll come back wrecks;som'll not come at all; and som'll land in a soldier's home. And to look at 'em you'd think they were goin' to a picnic."

Half a dozen persons heard Sam Hook, but no one answered.

"Life was cheap, wherefore we sold it.'" Sam quoted, reminiscently. Before him rose the day of his own marching off to the front. "Huh! Spendthrifts o'life; flingin' away the golden years that a Rockefeller or a Morgan would buy at a million a throw and, outside their broken-hearted mothers, who's givin' 'em a hand?"

Still no one answered. Sam Hook grunted and limped away.

Fifty years ahead of each one of them in the ordinary walks of life. Yet tossed ungrudingly upon the altar of liberty!

Fifty dollars is all that is asked of eu for a Liberty Bond, Mr. Stay-at-home.

Have you made your toss?

THE WILL FINDS THE WAY

As the South has long had to grapple with a more serious labor problem than any other part of the country, the reported methods employed by that section in meeting the present farm labor shortage are of especial interest. We have space to mention only a few of these. In Alabama five thousand boys are being mobilized to aid in the harvest and women are largely employed with a view to release men for the heavier work. In Georgia, where anti-loafing laws are forcing able-bodied idlers to work, white women are organizing to pick cotton and have already packed a large part of the peach crop. In Kentucky in addition to similar methods including the forcing of idlers city men in business and in industries are being enlisted for farm work. Louisiana has closed pool rooms, etc., uses war emergency service registration cards, and employs negro women in the fields in lieu of drafted negro men.

Tennessee farmers are working longer hours and on Sundays; the lighter work is done by the women and children and one hundred women are reported plowing in a single county. Courts have even adjourned and sawmills stopped for the "crop season." The Texas government and loan banks are assisting farmers to bring labor from Mexico. In West Virginia banks, factories and stores have released men for short time farm work, farmers are working longer hours, and both women and boys are employed in the fields. All of which shows that in every part of the country there is the will and that the will is finding the way.

R ED CROSS IN ITALY

Until the American Red Cross "carried on" replacing the worker-mother in many of the cities and towns of Italy, neglected little waifs—by-products of a world war—literally swarmed about the streets. The fathers of these children are with the colors—their mothers have replaced the fathers in the fields and workshops and the American Red Cross has replaced as far as it can the workmothers through its soup kitchens and what, in this country, would be called "day nurseries."

Supplanting the worker-mother is but another one of the American Red Cross activities overseas and one that is, perhaps, just around the corner, over here.

Recently the American Red Cross established another link in its long chain of soup kitchens in the village of San Oreste, which clings to the side of Mount Soracte in the Tiber valley, twenty miles from Rome. Here every morning at day-break a long, long line of worker-mothers may be seen wending their way to the lower levels to work in the fields and night finds them trudging slowly homeward. Before the American Red Cross established its soup kitchen there the children were left alone throughout the day. Now they have quite a different status. French nuns, who have ministered to the poor of San Creste for some time, are in charge of the soup kitchen and day nursery and as they watch over their flock, they note the clothing needs of the children and as supplies are wanted, they are shipped out from Rome.

Thus, the American Red Cross, impersonating the worker-mother, is helping to repay a little of the debt the loyal peasants of Italy are piling up during the long years of the war.

"Kamerad"

One more illuminating example of German treachery is added to the long list in the front line dispatches of September 18 as follows: "A troop of our men were charging a body of the enemy when the Germans unanimously held up their hands and howled in surrender. At command of an officer, up went our men's lances, they reigned in and swung off to the right of the enemy party, sweeping on to where there were more Germans ahead. As soon as they had passed the men who had surrendered dropped their hands and turned their rifles and machine guns on the backs of the men who had saved their lives. Only three of our troop of thirty came back."

Such treacherous dealing both from Berlin and on the German fighting front accounts for the practically universal characterization of the latest Teutonic peace proposal as "insincere." The invitation to an "unbinding discussion" of peace terms—the very word "unbinding" an unconscous revelation of proposed crookedness!—was doubtless more than a mere scheme to check the Allied advance. It may be that the losing Germans really want to quit, but it is plain that they are ready to do so only on their own terms. In this is to be found their insincerity and the reason why they were promptly and curtly turned down. Their overture will receive attention fast enough when they expilcitly offer not only to retire from the half dozen countries or parts of countries they have conquered but propose to undo the ruin they have wrought in so far as is possible through proper indemnities. As yet they have merely diplomatically repeated their cunning cry of "Kamerad," as false as Joab's pretended kiss of friendship when he smote Amasa under the fifth rib.

Maybe the gasless Sunday will continue indefinitely. The American army needs are now a half million gallons of gasoline a day. Liberty truck and airplane production is increasing so rapdly the government will soon require more than a million gallons a day. As the winter advances it becomes more and more difficult to transport enough gasoline to the eastern seaboard for shipment so that instead of abolishing the "gasless" Sunday the government will likely "gas" the country west of the Mississippi also. Fact of the matter is, "gas cards" limiting each user to a given number of gallons each week, may be expected before Chrstmas.

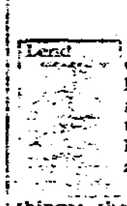
Two Things Go Over Top With Every Yank Boy

By Arnold W. Rosenthal



There are two things that our boys over there always have with them when they go over the top. Those two things are photographs and letters — your photograph and your letters.

They cherish these things; they look at them constantly and they work wonders in tempering the nervous moments.

But that boy over there who means so much to you—that boy who is risking his life for you—won't care a lot about your photograph or your letters if he hasn't a genuine feeling, positive and uncompromising, that you are backing him up—in spirit and in every material way. He must know that you are buying Liberty Bonds, that you are helping him win the war for Democracy.

You'll be doing your bit if you lend as he gives.

And you will have earned the right to feel proud at the time of the Big Parade.

Fredericktown has gone over the top in the Fourth Liberty Loan, the first town in the county to attain to that honor. The quota of the town was$121,000, but Wednesday noon the amount subscribed had reached $149,000, with 890 subscriptions and more coming. Vestaburg has also gone over its quota, subscribing $91,500, with a quota of $70,000. Both of these towns are in the eastern area of the county, which is rapidly responding to the appeal to buy bonds. The quota for the different communities may be published tomorrow.

The Treasury Department has had distributed among the boys of the American Expeditionary Forces abroad ten million sets of such postal cards—five to a set.

Others of the four sets of cards bear similar messages and pictures of tanks, guns, food and other needs of the soldiers which Liberty Bond money will buy.

The bard of an earlier time who wrote "Woodman, Spare That Tree" would have envied these twelve lines of Joyce Kilmer, lamented American soldiers and true poet of 1918:

"I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet-flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;

Who intimately lives with rain.
Poems are made by fools like me,

Get Ready For Christmas Buying

Be Patriotic--Don't delay, buy now

Read the following statement made by The Council of National Defense

Council of National Defense, Washington

The Council of National Defense authorizes the following statement:

The Council of National Defense has heretofore emphasized the necessity of restricting Christmas buying during the coming fall for certain specific reasons which it has stated. These reasons are in brief the necessity for saving labor and material in the manufacture and sale of Christmas gifts and of saving the transportation and delivery facilities necessarily involved in the large volume of Christmas purchases.

After conference with representatives of leading industries and retail interests concerned, it is found that the manufacture of goods for the coming holiday season has been substantially completed, that the transportation of the goods to the point of sale is also largely done and that much of material used for Christmas purchases, especially in the manufacture of toys, is the waste material derived from prior processes of manufacture.

The retail interests represented at the conference have agreed not to increase their working force by reason of the holiday business over the average force employed by them throughout the year and not to increase the normal working hours of their force during the Christmas season. They also agreed to use their utmost efforts to confine Christmas giving, except for young children, to useful articles and to spend the period for holiday purchases over the months of October, November and December. In order to relieve the transportation facilities of the country from a congestion in the latter half of December which would be so hurtful to the interests of the nation that it cannot be permitted, the retail interests represented at this hearing have agreed to cooperate further in the campaign heretofore and now being carried on under the auspices of the War Industries Board to restrict deliveries and to induce their customers to carry their own packages wherever possible.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs.

This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years Gold Medal Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weaknesses and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. Gold Medal Haarlem Oil is inclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported Gold Medal brand. In sealed packages.

EXPECT CLAIRTON TO MAKE GOOD

The new steamer Clairton, the tunnel propeller boat now in the coal trade for the Carnegie Steel Company on the Monongahela river, is according to an old riverman, a "whizz-dinger." This riverman has seen the best products of the boat yards of the valley come and go, but this new vessel, as he expressed it "takes the whole oven full of cakes, war bread and substitutes." The machinery of the boat is particularly interesting to mariners, as it is of the triple-expansion type, something never before attempted on the river, each engine turning a propeller five feet over all, and each propeller working in a tunnel in the hull of the boat. The cylinders are 12, 18 and 32 inches in diameter, the first one of high pressure the 18-inch the intermediate and the 32 the condensing cylinder, and develop 1400 horse power. The engines are so arranged that the boat can work ahead on one propeller and back on the other, much after the style of the old side-wheel packets, which were such familiar objects on the Monongahela river some years ago. She is fitted with two sets of rudders, one set placed before her propellers and one aft. This arrangement will largely overcome a weak spot on all such types of boats that have been tried on shallow waters, where rudder power is such a vital factor. This gives the boat much better steering capacity and it is said the Clairton can steer the Greenfield bend with a full tow, which is a very difficult feat for any steamboat.

The boilers which are of a somewhat peculiar pattern, are allowed 235 pounds of steam and at present are fed by coal stokers, an innovation on the Monongahela. When fit out with the new tar burning device which will be shortly installed, the Clairton promises to make a record on the Monongahela that will be hard to equal. At least her builders think so.

WILL REPRESENT WASHINGTON CO.

M. T. Crowley, recently appointed by Bishop Canevin as a representative from Washington county for the Knights of Columbus war fund, attended a meeting held in the auditorium, Arcade Building, Pittsburg, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, where representatives of the other six agencies of war work activities were present. The object of the meeting was to prepare for thecampaign which will be inaugurated and continue from Nov. 11 to 18, to raise $170,000 for the seven war activities. It was announced at this meeting that the quota of Washington county would be $350,000.

APPRECIATIVE WOMEN

How often is the question asked, "Are the testimonial letters published in the advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound genuine and true?" In answer to that question we want to answer most emphatically yes; and it is gladness for health restored by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after weeks, months and sometimes years of suffering that has prompted these women to write such letters in order that other women who suffer as they once did may profit by their experience.

HELP CONSERVE SUPPLY OF PAPER

"Don't mind wrapping it up, please." If every woman who goes to the grocer, candy or other store each day would use this phrase to the clerk, when buying package goods she would save thousands of tons of materials and chemicals, now essential in making munitions, poison gas and other war materials. Don't be ashamed to carry home a bottle of milk, unwrapped in the usual paper bag. War pride should prompt you to take a basket to market, re-using your saved paper bags, not only once; but a number of times, and thus do your share in the conservation of paper. Isn't the milk just as good; the package of chocolate as tasty, the biscuits as palatable? You must take the initiative the store clerk dare not offend you.

Your government needs your co-operation; it needs to restrict paper making; it needs all paper for re-manufacture into shell wrappers, for packing soldiers' food and clothing, for questionnaires, for records, correspondence, for soldiers' letters. Do your part and prevent an actual shortage.

MANY ALIENS IN THE FIFTH DISTRICT

In the Fifth Registration District of Washington county, which includes New Eagle, Monongahela, Carroll township, Donora, North Charleroi, Charleroi and Fallowfield township, there are 2,519 aliens, of which number 567 have announced their intention of becoming citizens of the United States, while 1,952 have made no such declaration. Of these 1,952 non-declarants, 967 livein Donora and 904 of this total are subjects of Teutonic powers. Austria leads with a total citizenship in the district of 885.

As the Donora American expresses it, to say that 904 enemy aliens live, work and pile up savings during the present period of unprecedented wages is an announcement surprising to say the least, even in an industrial community like Donora. They will of course, not be subject to draft, but may continue in their present occupation unless some means of prying them loose from their jobs is discovered that will be consistent with the maintenance of war time industry. A tabulation of the alien registration in the distrct is as follows:

Declarants	Subjects	Non-declarants
30	Belgium	17
18	England	8
5	Ireland	4
10	Scotland	10

S. D. HILL SPOKE AT MONONGAHELA

S. D. Hill of Charleroi was one of the principal speakers at a demonstration in Monongahela Sunday afternoon when the citizens of what is known as Stockaletown, out Park avenue, unveiled a tablet in honor of the boys in the naval and military service of the United States. The day was perfect for an out-door gathering and at least fifteen hundred people were in attendance. Not only was the honor roll unveiled, but a service flag as well as the National emblem were unfurled and honored by the splendid audience present.

Mr. Hill spoke for half an hour, and held his audience to the closest attention, evoking applause at frequent intervals by the many telling points in his address. The other speaker of the afternoon was Claude E. Towner of Monongahela, who only recently returned after a four months' tour of duty with the Y. M. C. A. at Camp Humphreys.

That Hindnburg line, which has been such a bugaboo for the past four years, is now being punched full of holes by the allied armies. Fact of the matter is, the Huns wil ibe hunting a new line of defense before long.

CONCLUDES TALKS ON TRAINING CAMPS

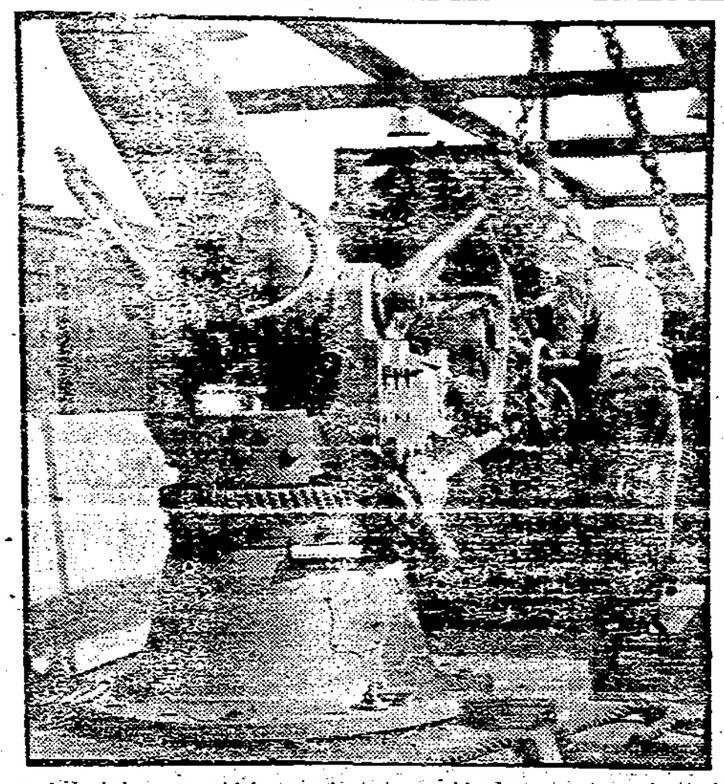
The concluding lecture of the series on life in the training camps was given in the First Presbyterian church by the Rev. C. Argyle Keller under the title of "Comedy and Tragedy in Training Camp Life." It was one of the most interesting of the series and the points covered were illustrated by many ancedotes and personal observations, which showed that the speaker was a keen observer and has a kindly sympathy for the recruits when in the early stages of their experiences in training camp.

The speaker said that life in the training camps was not all hard work or grim preparation for war, but that much was done to furnish recreation for the men and preserve and build up the morale of the army. Mr. Keller covered in a brief and interesting manner the many phases of the "doughboys" life in work and play, his joys and his disappointments, the problems of the isolation camp and the working of the various court martials and rigours of the guard house.

Some wholesome advice was given to mothers who are in the habit of writing distressing letters to the boys letters that add to their difficulties and sometimes even causing them to commit serious crimes against military rules. Much can bedone to help them by cheery, newsy letters and these are ever welcome.

Many safeguards surround the m in our armies and it is the earnest prayer in many of their hearts that they will be spared to return after fulfilling the duties of a good soldier with a clean body and a pure heart.

One Sight of Emden Gun Makes Liberty Bond Buyers



ONE of the guns which terrorized the world when it was on the deck of the German Raider Emden is pointing its muzzle harmlessly at the sky over Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia.

It is on a flat car in one of the two Uncle Sam's Trophy Trains which are on tour in this district under the direction of the Central Liberty Loan Committee. When H. M. S. Sidney of the British fleet sunk the Emden in 1915 this gun was raised. It was brought to the United States and is now doing its bit to boost the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign.

No American can look at this death-dealing, commerce-destroying monument to the Beast of Berlin without mentally going into battle. The thousands who have looked at it have signed pledges for Liberty Bonds to the utmost of their buying power.

No American can think of the power which sent the Emden on its long errand of destruction without resolving to do everything possible to put an end to that sort of power. Liberty Bonds is the only agency through which we at home can get into the fight.
